With the U. S. Third Army, May 28 (AP)—Sick, undernourished and homeless, 25 eight-week-old babies were left today on the doorstep of the 134th Medical Group at Pilsen in Czechoslovakia.

The pitiful war babies were suffering from tuberculosis, ear infections or enteritis—inflammation of the intestines. It was believed that they were brought through the Russian lines from Prague by nurses.

Frederick Kahrs Rescues Boy From Drowning May 26

Jackie Corcoran, 8, of 5 Post street, was rescued from drowning on Saturday afternoon when he fell into the Rondout creek in the rear of the Forst pucking plant on Abel street.

The splash made by the boy as he fell from the dock into the water was heard by Frederick Kahrs, 16, of 15 Abrayn street, who was fishing some distance away. Kahrs ran to the aid of the boy, plunging into the water and bringing the boy to the dock.

However, the boy was too heavy for Kahrs to get out to the dock and Kahrs called for help. His call was heard by Emilio Berardi, who was driving along the street in his auto.

Berardi stopped and went to the assistance of Kahrs and hauled Corcoran onto the dock.

In the meantime the fire department received a call that the boy was in the water, but when the firemen arrived they found that the boy was unharmed.

Many Are Present At Veterans' Rites At City Auditorium

Dr. Sizoo Delivers Main Address; Mayor Also Speaks; Messina Leads Band

The Memorial service at the municipal auditorium Sunday evening was very largely attended. The main speaker at the service sponsored by the Kingston Veterans' Association was Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo of St. Nicholas Collegiate Church, New York. Another speaker was Mayor William F. Edelmuht.

James R. Krom, chairman of the service committee, presided at the service, which was opened with patriotic and sacred selections by the Kingston High School Band under the direction of Anthony J. Messina.

The invocation was pronounced by the Rev. W. Wesley Williams, pastor of St. James Methodist Church.

The colors were advanced by members of Joyce-Schrick Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Robert Smith of Boy Scout Troop 15.

The Rev. Dr. Sizoo spoke in part as follows: "Dr. Sizoo, in his remarks, further said: 'We are here tonight to remember the dead, those who gave the last full measure of their devotion. They died that the flickering torches of freedom might not go out. Into their inheritance we have entered.'

"But more especially are we thinking of those who have given their all in this conflict. By the grace of God and the gallantry of these men the enemy in Europe has been utterly destroyed, utterly ruined. Their cities have been bombed; their factories are in flames; and beneath the smoldering embers there are buried their shoddy leaders who have come to this shoddy day."

Dr. Sizoo further said: "They came, these gallant soldiers, from the homes of the rich and the poor, from among the educated and the humble, from the homes of the native born and the foreign-born, from factory and from farm. Yet in 20 weeks training they out-fought and out-matched the long-est trained army in the world."

"For the second invasion of the mind and conscience we cannot use weapons which we used in conquering their land. The weapons that are now in our hands are the weapons of the mind and the heart. We may well pray that those who are making that second invasion may be given wisdom to use those weapons."

"Whatever else this war may mean it is increasingly clear that we live in a world now without frontiers. Boundary lines between nations are imaginary things. No nation can stand independent and detached from the rest of the world. It is a new experience for us as a people to live in a world without frontiers. The unsolved question is how shall we live in that kind of a world?"

"That is our unfinished task which the blessed dead have put in our hands. For the answer to that question we shall have to address ourselves in the year to come. Living together for the common good must be the war cry of our nation. There is no international problem which cannot be solved by intelligent good will."

Mayor William F. Edelmuht in his address took for his topic "Memorial Day," which he said, by reason of the world conflict, took on a greater significance this year than ever before. "We face the mighty task of rebuilding and rehabilitating the nations that were plundered and burned by a vicious conqueror," said the mayor.

"Memorial Day takes on a greater significance as we fight a Pacific and resourceful enemy in the Pacific. We face the task ahead with utmost confidence, knowing that if we follow the footsteps of the brave men whom we honor in remembrance and appreciation in this service, our efforts will be fruitful. We know that in the continuance of the American way, helpful and unselfish service to all mankind, we shall erect a memorial to our dead greater than any architect could imagine."

Two Are Arrested On Gas Theft Charge

Joseph P. Winter, 39, a sailor, and Daniel Amoroso, 20, a soldier, were arrested at 2 o'clock Sunday morning by the police on a charge of petit larceny, in stealing gas from an automobile parked in the rear of the court house.

This morning Judge Matthew V. Cahill held the soldier to await the arrival of army authorities, and adjourned the Winter case for a day in order to investigate the story Winter told.

James W. Debra, 48, who said he lived in Indianapolis, was arrested Saturday night on a charge of petit larceny. The police found him lying in the roadway on the Hudson Creek Bridge. This morning the judge gave Debra an hour to leave the city.

Each month Army proclamation men in the United States handle an average 277,876 pairs of trousers.

European Relief Needs Are Subject Of Capital Session

President and Hoover Meet at White House, but Nature of Talk Is Kept Secret

Washington, May 28 (AP)—President Truman today conferred for nearly an hour with former President Herbert Hoover on European relief needs.

While Mr. Hoover would not discuss the conference, the White House indicated there might be comment from that source later in the day.

Meanwhile, the President invited Thomas E. Dewey and Alf M. Landon, former Republican presidential nominees, to visit the White House at any time to consult with him on national or international issues.

Mr. Hoover emerged smiling from his 50-minute talk with Mr. Truman.

He said he was sorry to disappoint waiting newspaper reporters, but "the President of the United States has the right to make his own statements."

"There's no right of a visitor to say anything about his talks with the President," Hoover commented, adding that he was "sorry to disappoint."

Press Secretary Charles C. Ross made the announcement that the President had invited Dewey, New York governor and 1944 Republican presidential candidate, and Landon, 1936 presidential nominee and former governor of Kansas, to the White House.

Apparently seeking further bipartisan support for his plans for the nation, Mr. Truman wrote the two former Republican nominees "to drop in for a talk at any time they happen to be in Washington," Ross told his news conference.

Ross said the President took this step on his own initiative and without any request of the Republican leaders for such consultations.

"The President didn't mention any specific subjects in his letter," Ross said, "but just invited them to drop in any time they cared to when they happened to be in Washington to discuss whatever they may have on their minds."

Ross noted that Mr. Truman had similarly taken the initiative in the invitation of Mr. Hoover.

Ross told newsmen that the conference between the President and Mr. Hoover was "a pleasant meeting. The President found that Mr. Hoover had some very constructive ideas which the President was glad to receive."

Ross made no mention of the possibility of another meeting between the two nor did he give any indication that they had discussed the possibility of an administration job for Mr. Hoover.

The 70-year-old Republican leader, making his first visit to the Pennsylvania avenue mansion in more than 12 years, arrived alone. Entering the executive offices at 10:25 a. m., Eastern War Time, he paused briefly at the request of photographers and newsmen cameras, and then went to Mr. Truman's offices for a 30-minute conference.

The White House withheld comment on suggestions that the former president be considered for a post in the European relief set-up, but emphasized the importance it attaches to his views.

Helen Hawk Is Bride Of William Tuceling

The wedding of Miss Helen Bryson Hawk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Hawk, 28 Thompson street, Poughkeepsie, to William Tuceling of the Hotel Campbell, Poughkeepsie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Tuceling, Shokan, took place Sunday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church, Poughkeepsie. The ceremony was performed at 2:30 o'clock by the Rev. Dr. Harold B. Kerelimer, pastor.

Mrs. C. K. Chatterton, organist, played a program of selected numbers including the two wedding marches and "Ave Maria." The church was decorated with palms, white gladioli and snapdragons arranged around a white wedding bench.

Mr. Hawk gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a frosted white marquisette gown made with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves and full skirt ending in a small train. Her veil of illusion was attached to a cap of seed pearls with a flower design on each side. She carried a white prayer book marked with white orchids and streamers of white sweetpeas. Miss Ida M. Krum of Poughkeepsie and Olive Bridge as maid of honor wore a blue marquisette gown made with full skirt, three-quarter sleeves and round neckline. Her headpiece was made with yellow roses and spring flowers.

Robert MacFarland of Poughkeepsie was best man. Ushers were Milton M. Moul of Rhinebeck and Quito G. Recchia of Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Hawk, the bride's mother, wore a pink and black silk suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white sweetpeas. Mrs. Tuceling, mother of the bridegroom, wore a lavender dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink sweetpeas and white roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Wendover Farms where the wedding party received about 40 relatives and friends. Decorations were white spring flowers.

Afterward Mr. and Mrs. Tuceling left for a wedding trip to the Poconos. The bride chose a grey linen suit with grey hat, black accessories and a yellow topcoat with a white orchid corsage. Upon their return they will make their home at 13 Vernon terrace, Poughkeepsie.

Mrs. Tuceling is a graduate of Poughkeepsie Business Institute, and before her marriage was employed as secretary at Delaval Separator Co. Mr. Tuceling, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed as a foreman in the inspection department at Delaval Separator Co.

W.C.T.U. Institute Held at Milton

(OFFICIAL REPORT)

The Spring Institute of the W.C.T.U. was held May 22 in the Milton Presbyterian Church. Following an organ recital by Mrs. Oliver Kent and devotions under Spiritual Life Director Mrs. E. Young, there were greetings to the delegates from Pastor Elwood Corning and local President Warren.

W.C.T.U. standards was the topic of the morning. Miss Helen G. H. Estelle, new state president, told of the standard of the women who led the crusade 71 years ago. That standard, which W.C.T.U. people are to follow still, is abstinence for the individual and sobriety for the nation.

County officers and directors discussed W.C.T.U. standards and efficiency. There is a campaign for membership on. Ellenville is in the van with 11 new members. Ellenville was well represented at the institute. In the drive for new members, Ulster's quota is 93. Holdfast Unions pay dues for as many members this year as last, which means that a new member must be gained for each one who dies or moves away. For a fruitful union, there must be a net gain in membership. That union must pay more dues this year than last.

Mrs. Ruby Lais solo brought the message, "Life has so many lovely things, had we but eyes to see."

The devotional period guided by the Rev. Hugh McNally gave him an opportunity to say a word of commendation for the educational methods of the W.C.T.U.

In the morning the purchase of a projector for use in the schools of Ulster county had been brought before the institute by the new state president, who was the guest speaker. Mr. McNally had seen a demonstration of this tool of visual education and knew how well the W.C.T.U. films tell the temperance story.

The period devoted to the men and women in service gave opportunity to some of them, if not all, may feel obliged to bring their birthday presents. I think, however, that in a great many instances if we didn't stipulate the birthday some of the friends might not stop in because it isn't convenient these days with the rationing for people to go distances to a general type of party. Will you tell us what you think?

Answer: Invite them to the birthday party and write at the bottom of the invitations, "Please send no presents." If a few choose to do so in spite of this notice, the others who obey it can't possibly feel in the wrong.

The Spoon for Ice Cream

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I do not agree about eating ice cream with a dessert spoon and I think with a teaspoon. Which is correct?

Answer: As made evident by its name, a dessert spoon is correct at a formal table. A teaspoon is permissible and in fact, much more often used.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post
(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

WARTIME MOURNING

A problem of mourning in wartime is the subject of this letter: "My mother died several weeks ago and as yet I have not ventured from the house. At the funeral I wore black and a veil. But I am wondering what I should do when I go out in public because there are so many families in this smallish town whose sons are seeing active service overseas. Some have been war casualties. Do you think it more considerate of these families for me to go about in regular clothes or at any rate in my gray suit and ordinary black dresses with white put on instead of color? I borrowed black stockings from a friend for the funeral. There are none to be had. So even if I wear a black dress, my tan stockings will prevent my giving the appearance of mourning. However, the point I want to make is in wartime should I wear black at all for the reasons I have given you?"

To this I must agree that the wearing of mourning black has an unhappy effect on the home front in wartime. Moreover, if all the relatives of every war casualty were to wear black, the result would be to add to the anxieties of all of those whose feelings are hard enough to control without needless reminders. I think "absence of colors" as you suggest is in very best taste for now. Wear colors later in the summer.

Permissible to Add "Please, No Presents"

Dear Mrs. Post: Mother is afraid that if we invite people to her birthday party some of them, if not all, may feel obliged to bring her birthday presents. I think, however, that in a great many instances if we didn't stipulate the birthday some of the friends might not stop in because it isn't convenient these days with the rationing for people to go distances to a general type of party. Will you tell us what you think?

Answer: Invite them to the birthday party and write at the bottom of the invitations, "Please send no presents." If a few choose to do so in spite of this notice, the others who obey it can't possibly feel in the wrong.

They don't shirk the Mean Jobs—Do You?

ASK ANY BOUGHBOY! Mopping up the enemy is a dirty, unglamorous job. But it's got to be done—and they do it. Here at home, it's not the easy jobs that count, either. Take fat salvage. There's no trick at all to saving the easy amounts, like fat from frying bacon.

BUT WHAT COUNTS in the long run is the hard-to-get fat—table scraps, meat trimmings. Save them all; once a week melt them down and add the liquid fat to your salvage can. (Remember, you get 2 red points and 4¢ for every pound of used fats you turn in.)

Needed this year: 100,000,000 more pounds of used fats

Rain Interferes With Painting of The Truman Home

Independence, Mo., May 28 (AP)—The "summer white house" may be white in name only if it doesn't stop raining.

Mrs. Harry Truman, her daughter Margaret, and Mrs. Truman's mother Mrs. George Wallace are expected here this week, and it was planned that their big grey three-story family home would be gleaming white. Painters have erected their scaffolding but continual downpours have prevented them from working.

The 14-room house, built nearly 80 years ago by Mrs. Truman's grandfather, has six bedrooms and two baths. Crates of furniture have arrived from the Truman's Washington apartment.

No changes will be made now in the interior of the house, Mrs. Truman's sister-in-law, Mrs. Frank Wallace, said.

Your savings invested in War Bonds will help stabilize prices now and provide for your own security in the future.

Sgt. Jake Lindsey Has Quiet Nuptial

Ceremony Is Held After Big Celebration

Luxemburg, Miss., May 28 (AP)—Sgt. Jake Lindsey and his bride of only a few hours planned to return to his family home here today for a brief honeymoon before visiting her parents at Lexington, Miss.

Their marriage yesterday, after she and the Congressional Medal of Honor winner had said they would wait for her parents to announce their proposed wedding, came as a surprise to this little farm-lumber-trade center.

The girl Lindsey had "dated" twice before he shipped overseas to become the nation's 100th Infantryman to win the medal of honor, was not present for the ceremony in Washington last week at which President Truman personally awarded the medal.

However, she joined him later and they came here together for a "Sgt. Jake W. Lindsey Day" held Saturday as the state and town acclaimed him.

The Sunday marriage caught the townsfolk and the few cameramen remaining in town after the celebration, completely off balance.

While most of the people were at church and the streets were empty, the couple, accompanied by Lindsey's parents and Miss Gene Baker, of Memphis, Tenn., a friend of the bride, met Court Clerk M. L. Malone at the courthouse at noon.

The wedding party went practically unobserved to the home of a friend, and at 3 p. m. the ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Fulgham, pastor of the Methodist Church.

After a quiet reception at a neighbor's home, the couple drove to Mobile last night.

"We'll be back tomorrow," Lindsey said, "and we expect to go to Beverly's home in about a week."

In Massachusetts, James R. Hargreaves, Beverly's father, said she called him yesterday morning to say they would be married soon.

"Naturally, both her mother and I are delighted," he said upon hearing the news.

Luce Charges That Russian Ideas Are Forced on Populus

New York, May 28 (AP)—Declaring that Soviet Russia has adopted terrorism as a political weapon in European countries under its domination, Rep. Clare Boothe Luce (R-Conn.) said last night that Russian ideas were spreading "over Europe and Asia at a greater speed than Nazi ideas did 10 years ago."

Mrs. Luce, who recently returned from a tour of European battlefronts, told a meeting of the Columbia University Men's Faculty Club that "13 nations in central Europe are directly controlled by local Communists or indirectly by Communists in Moscow."

"The fact is," she said, "that the policy being used by the Soviet Union all over Europe is (1) fraternization (2) exile or death to everybody in every country occupied by the Soviet, regardless of that person's political beliefs, if he does not follow the Soviet program; (3) to put guns and weapons into the hands of any discontented minority, regardless of their previous political beliefs, provided that they do follow the Soviet program."

"Germany," she added, "is the battleground where either democracy or Communism will win."

Chamber of Commerce Reports to the Public capacity you may feel fitted best to do, by calling 5100 or by mail.

The majority of members who have already joined the chamber, have shown a tremendous amount of civic interest in wanting to help the city which for so many years has helped them, and we want to wholeheartedly congratulate and salute their enthusiasm and public spirit.

There have been a few—fortunately very small in number—who felt they had no place in the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. To those who feel that way, we offer no criticism, simply because we know that the full significance of what the Kingston Chamber of Commerce means to them individually, has not been fully explained. The newly formed organization is already a success.

If for no other reason than the fact that the 500 who have already joined, have shown a willingness to help and become one big cooperative family. There is no question but that they feel that Kingston is the finest city in the country.

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce does not intend to perform miracles, its sole aim and purpose being to make the city of Kingston a still better place in which to live. Our hopes and aims are to try to accomplish the following:

First: To give every returning serviceman who has fought for his country, a chance to rehabilitate himself and to give him an opportunity to get and enjoy the things for which he has fought. If we accomplish nothing else, your membership fee will certainly have been worthwhile.

Second: To obtain for Kingston, an adequate airport so as to be able to keep up with modern transportation methods. A committee has been appointed and has already done a tremendous amount of work to fulfill this aim.

Third: An Industrial Advisory Committee has also been appointed and has already gone a long way in formulating plans and helping each other so as to be in a position to have better "employer-employee" relations and to be able to pay higher wages. They are also now in the process of making a survey as to the existing facilities which Kingston may have to offer to suitable industries.

Fourth: An Industrial Procurement Committee is being formulated composed of leading civic-minded businessmen. Their duty will be to encourage the bringing to Kingston, high-type industries employing men at good wages.

Fifth: Adequate transportation facilities enabling every citizen to travel in speed and comfort not only in the city, but to other points as well.

Sixth: We are endeavoring to bring a ferry, bridge, or both, in the quickest possible time.

Seventh: We shall do our utmost to get better roads built both in Kingston and its vicinity.

Eighth: To put on a concerted small business promotion whereby we will help small businesses with their various problems.

Ninth: To try to bring to a completion, the elimination of the railroad crossings.

Tenth: To publicize the city of Kingston and its opportunities not only for industry, but as a convention city and as one of the best resorts in New York state.

Eleventh: To promote a better spirit of cooperation with our adjacent neighbors and help them in every way possible.

Twelfth: To promote the bringing to Kingston, a modern television tower station and frequency modulation broadcasting.

Thirteenth: To take a complete survey of the city with a modern zoning plan.

Fourteenth: To promote a modern assessment readjustment plan.

Fifteenth: To appoint immediately, a Housing Promotion Committee extending and improving our present housing facilities.

Sixteenth: To appoint as soon as possible a Better Business Bureau, which is very badly needed in the city, together with a Fair Trade Practice Board.

Seventeenth: To immediately Kingston has a very low juvenile delinquency problem. However we intend to cooperate with the local authorities in formulating plans for the wider use of our public

Hurley Boy Scouts Will Collect Paper

Waste paper collections in Hurley will be made Friday and Saturday beginning at 8 a. m., according to Scoutmaster Chester Decker.

Boy Scouts of Troop 20, Hurley, will make the rounds of the village and nearby areas. Householders are asked to have material ready for the boys.

Troop 20 Boy Scouts have an excellent record in the collection of waste paper. Scoutmaster Decker told The Freeman today and the two-day cleanup is expected to add several tons to the Hurley contributions.

buildings and facilities in their behalf.

Eleventh: To encourage our landlords and businessmen to improve their store fronts as well as store interiors and bring them up to modern times.

Nineteenth: To give employment opportunities for all who want to work.

You'll have to agree that if but a fraction of the above is accomplished, your small membership fee and cooperation will have been well worthwhile. There may be some of you who feel that you have more money than you can have used, or who feel that you can take care of, or who feel that you do not like the officers or the members of the board of directors. To those of you, we say, and hope that you will forget personalities; the fact that you have money; or that you have a big business. This is still your home, your community, and it does not lessen your responsibility toward making your home and your community the best place in which to live.

For the record, we want to inform you that there will be no change of major importance in any of our endeavors without the majority vote of the members of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. In other words, the Kingston Chamber will be run by and for the benefit of its entire membership. Just as soon as we have completed our membership drive, we are going to have a monthly "Kingston Chamber of Commerce News" which will be mailed to every member, describing in detail all the various activities of the chamber, for the approval or disapproval of its members.

There is an old saying that "If you do nothing, say nothing, and the nothing, you'll never be criticized." This chamber is not in the above category. We welcome and want criticism. We want you, because it's your chamber, to help us with the many problems that are going to confront us. Kingston means business! Boost Kingston and it will boost you.

concerned with the government of occupied Germany and the punishment of war criminals.

Jackson planned to go to London immediately to meet with the United Nations War Crimes Commission and he said he hoped to "have further discussions of these matters with members of the commission representing our Allies."

"I intend to return shortly with a staff and will set up an office in Paris and also one at London and one at the seat of government in the American control zone," Jackson said.

Associated with Jackson as counsel for the United States will be Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, Sidney S. Alderman of Washington, D. C., Francis M. Shea, assistant U. S. attorney general, and Gordon Dean and Col. John Amen, both former special assistants to the attorney general.

Jackson said he could not estimate the number of war criminals to be tried until after the London conference. The site of the trials to be determined by military authorities, has not been selected. It will also be up to the tribunal to determine the manner of execution of death sentences, he said.

In addition to international trials and cases against Germans charged with battlefield crimes against Americans, another category involves offenses by Nazis against inhabitants of Nazi-occupied localities. Jackson said these would be referred to local courts in those areas.

"punching" incident in France, Joe said:

"I hit them, but they deserved it—and I'd do it again. I didn't use a club, but clipped them with my fist."

"We were building a new prison stockade and these nine German prisoners were not working fast enough. I told one of them to hurry up, but he just stood there with a sour look on his face and cursed me out. Then I hit him."

"The other eight just sat down and refused to work. So I started swinging. I hit four of them in all, not the whole nine."

"In my opinion, I got a raw deal, but it's okay now and I'm not complaining."

Young Joe limped noticeably on his left leg as he walked, the result of a wound received at Liege, Belgium, while aiding in storming a pill box. For his part in the action, he was awarded the Silver Star.

Before departing for Fort Devens at midnight, Joe was interviewed, made recordings for broadcasts and was given a reception by the Yankee Division Veterans Association, of which his father is a member.

trained Nazis will be continued by Supreme Headquarters, it was announced, "in order that the preparation of cases against war criminals or war criminal suspects may not be hampered." Headquarters made this known last night following complaints from American correspondents regarding the restrictions.

Meanwhile, headquarters announced that Field Marshal Robert Ritter von Greim, 53-year-old chief of the German Air Force, who had succeeded Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering to the post on April 26, had committed suicide by swallowing poison.

Like Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler and Gen. Adm. Hans Georg Friedeburg before him, he has secreted a small vial of poison on his person. He had been found May 9 in a hospital at Kitzbuehel in the Austrian Tyrol and had told his American captors:

"I am the head of the Luftwaffe, but I have no Luftwaffe."

(The British radio, heard by C. B. S. in New York, said Dr. Hugo Jury, gauleiter of lower Austria, "has chosen suicide rather than captivity and trial.")

Albert Forster, former German governor of Danzig, surrendered to German military police in Hamburg Saturday and was turned over to the British. The 42-year-old gauleiter, also was contemplating self-inflicted death by poison, he told his captors—but only if he had fallen into Russian hands.

A number of minor figures also have been rounded up. These include Paula Hitler, sister of Fuehrer Hitler, who was placed under house arrest near Berchtesgaden, and a brother of Heinrich Himmler, a minor SS official, who was arrested by British troops at Schleswig and was sent to Paris. His first name was not announced.
